Points Discussed and Observations:

Chairman Mechanical Engineering, Prof. M S Rajagopal welcomed all the members and briefed the agenda. He also introduced Prof S S Katte, and Prof. Rammohan Bhanumurthy to the members.

The observations during the discussion are presented below.

Agenda 1

2021-22 scheme (60:40): Review of Scheme from I to VIII semesters and syllabus for I and II semesters

Chairman Mechanical engineering deliberated upon the scheme for 2021-22, curriculum for B.Tech degree program in Mechanical Engineering. He mentioned that the overall credits for this scheme is in line with the recommendation of AICTE and is 160 credits. He presented the overall scheme with credits break-up for the B.Tech degree program and also briefed the members about integrated specialization streams offered within the framework of available credit system.

The difference between the previous scheme (2020-21) and the current scheme (2021-22) is discussed by bringing out the following points...

- Keeping in pace with the New education policy (NEP) recommendations total of 12 credits for courses on liberal studies (LS) has been introduced. The basket of courses introduced under LS were discussed.
- A Basic science (BS) course on health sciences in lieu of Biological sciences and two new courses of 1 credit each on "How things work (I & II)" under Engineering science (ES) course are introduced in I & II semester. The broad content of the courses were discussed. BOS members welcomed this proposed changes.

- Four courses on Mathematics, each of 3 credits are offered in semesters I to IV, with a total of 12 credits as compared to 3 courses of Mathematics each with 4 credits in 2020-21 scheme. The common Mathematics courses proposed for Mechanical, Aerospace and ECE branches during I & II semesters are Linear Algebra & Calculus (I Semester) and Transforms & Differential Equations (II Semester). For the Mechanical branch, Applied Numerical Methods is proposed in III semester and course syllabus for IV semester is yet to be decided.
- Constitution of India and Kannada Kali are made credit courses and are offered under Liberal Studies.
- A LS course on Design thinking studio in lieu of the Design Thinking & Innovation course (2020-21 scheme) has been introduced with one credit. This course broadly covers design aspects involved with product development through studio concept rather than the standard lecture approach.
- A fundamental course on AI and ML is proposed to be introduced in III semester

Mr. Dasarathi G V opened up the discussion on macro perspective of content of the curriculum for Mechanical Engineering degree program. He emphasized on the importance of core courses in mechanical engineering domain rather than deviating attention on multidisciplinary courses. All the BOS members present agreed on the importance of fundamental core courses in Mechanical Engineering to be studied in depth, but emphasized that the multi-disciplinary courses are also important and hence a balance has to be maintained.

Dr. Rajagopal presented the break-up for the 2021-22 scheme and it was observed that 63 credits have been allotted for the mechanical professional core courses which was appreciated by the members present.

It was unanimously agreed to include industry specific courses to impart skill and knowledge based on the feedback from BOS members. The curriculum also should focus for higher education, R&D opportunities of the students.

Dr S S Katte highlighted upon the challenges involved with Mechanical Engineering and suggested for judicious inclusion of multidisciplinary courses without compromising on core content. Further, he emphasized on measurement of course outcomes and implementation of qualitative aspects in continuous assessment and evaluation.

During the discussion on specialization courses, Dr. S. Seetharama emphasized upon introduction of specialization verticals on green energy. Dr. CPS Prakash highlighted upon inclusion of MOOC based courses in the curriculum. Dr. Ghosal pointed out that some of the Mechatronics courses are being offered under Robotics. If Mechatronics specialization is also introduced, then they have to be brought under this specialization.

BOS members agreed for the above proposed modifications in 2021-22 scheme.

Agenda 2

2020-21 scheme (60:40): Review of syllabus for III and IV semester, Scheme from V to VIII semesters

Chairman Mechanical engineering presented the overall scheme for III to VIII semesters and detailed syllabus content for III-IV semester. BOS members suggested that standard text books must be specified which was also highlighted by Dr. Katte.

All the members agreed for the course content as well as credits allotted. Changes related to referencing, standardizing the templates are to be finalized.

Agenda 3
