Criteria to identify slow performers and advanced learners and assessment methodology

The students are categorized based on the average of their previous year's final examination marks and the first internal assessment marks of present academic year. They are given a 50% weightage to each of above category. Students securing less than 50% are considered to be slow performers and those secured above 65% are considered as advanced learners. Subsequently, the students are then given remedial measures and special programs for their further improvement in academics.
